Purpose

This website was an assignment for IS117-101 Fall 2020. This project is meant to be a growing portfolio of all of my work done at NJIT. It's a simple, centralized location to log my creations and see progress along the way.

About Sean

My name is Sean Rogawski. I'm a senior at NJIT. This is one of my final projects. I've learned a wealth of web development skills and am here to showcase those skills. Unfortunately, I have no more classes after this, so any additional projects will be side projects.

My Work and Interests

I've worked with quite a few coding languages both in web development and in software. I'm familiar with Java, Python, HTML, CSS, PHP, SQL, to name a few. I'm most comfortable working with terminal and have some experience working with CMD. My major and course work focused on networking and security so I even have Cisco CLI experience and will begin to learn Juniper in my free time. Much of my web development work can be viewed at my Github link: Sean Rogawski
